

DYING TO LIVE

*rock bottom is a state of being is a place of healing is a way of seeing that there is nowhere to go anymore but up

*dying to live was all she could say she gave all he could give there was no other way so she let it go come what may and she began to live

Life --in it's true sense is only accessed through dying we die into a brand new world one life-time gives way to another
